Fight for Survival

Casseana Ferrison and her husband Micah are starting a new life in Austin, Texas, but their world suddenly turns upside down when Cass takes the fall for her brother and goes to jail. Cass struggles through a crisis of faith and encounters a young woman named Mercy, with whom she feels mysteriously connected. She tries sharing her faith with Mercy, but realizes there are people in jail who want her dead. Meanwhile, Micah and their three children try to outrun a shadowy ring of drug and child traffickers who have an unclear connection to Cass's brother. Micah finds an ally in the police department, but soon learns the traffickers have allies of their own. Cass and Micah both face a hard question: Can they trust God with death staring them in the face? It's a fight for survival, justice and faith.

More than Fiction

"Child of Mercy" is a unique piece of Christian fiction that started as a dream. One morning in 2012, Grant Carroll's wife shared vivid details of a dream that shook her deeply, and soon after he felt compelled to transform it into a novel. The story illuminates the dark world of child trafficking and reflects racial tensions and prejudices that are not so hidden. It is a story of suffering, struggling for survival, faith and the relentless love that pursues us all.

Note from the Author

This is the second Christian fiction novel the Lord has led me to write. It hits close to the heart of a mission and passion that my wife and I have shared for years. In 2007, we started a ministry called Child Refuge with the goal of fighting child sexual abuse, especially in the context of the American Church. To that end, we have done countless hours of research, created a website (www.childrefuge.org) full of content aimed at raising awareness, produced survivor testimony videos and written curriculum for churches to help educate and empower children and the people who minister to them. This particular story deals with the problem of child trafficking in the United States. Here are some important points I've learned:

Important Child Trafficking Statistics:

- According to government statistics, the average age of entry into prostitution is 12 to 13 years. The FBI has reported finding girls as young as 9.
- According to the Department of Justice, 60% of girls caught in human trafficking are U.S. citizens.
- The CDC released a survey that found 1 out of 4 women and 1 out of 6 men were sexually abused before age 18.

Sexual abuse and child trafficking are ugly realities that need to be stopped. My prayer is that the Church at large will take the lead in eradicating this evil.
